

Always AN ADVENTURE!

EXPLORE THE WORLD AT THE NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC MUSEUM

The museum features a variety of changing exhibitions, from interactive experiences to stunning photography. With exhibitions designed to educate people about our world, the museum provides a unique perspective from renowned explorers, photographers, and scientists who support our mission to inspire people to care about the planet.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC PRESENTS

EARTH EXPLORERS

OPEN FEBRUARY 2017

Take a walk on the wild side with the best and brightest of National Geographic. Explore alongside daring men and women who have put their lives on the line to discover new places, help protect our planet's biodiversity, and uncover new scientific realms.

This exhibition is divided into five environmental modules: Polar Regions, Oceans, Rainforests, Mountains & Caves, and Savannas. Each area includes interactive multi-media experiences to engage your students. The content directly relates to national standards of Science as Inquiry, Ecology, Characteristics of Organisms and Science and Technology.

THE MOST POPULAR INSTAGRAM PHOTOS

OPEN NOVEMBER 11, 2016

As one of the world's top non-celebrity accounts on Instagram, @natgeo has more than 56 million followers and over 1 billion likes on its 11,000+ posted images. Now you can experience the diversity of this innovative and eye-popping content firsthand. This new exhibition weaves interactivity and imagery with social media trends such as hashtags, feeds, and throwbacks to tell the stories of these images and the photographers behind them. Simultaneously digital and tactile, the exhibition offers visitors and students an opportunity to interact with National Geographic photography in a whole new way.
