AN ARCTIC ADVENTURE

This Once-in-a-Lifetime Expedition is Much More Than a Cruise

For the complete video with media resources, visit: http://www.nationalgeographic.org/media/arctic-adventure/

The Grosvenor Teacher Fellow Program is a professional development opportunity for K-12 educators. This fellowship is awarded to a select group of teachers each year, and provides a once-in-a-lifetime expedition experience to educators who will bring their adventures back to their classrooms to enhance learning and engagement. In these videos you'll get a glimpse of the unforgettable animal encounters, breathtaking landscapes, and educational inspiration that are integral to every trip.

The Grosvenor Teacher Fellow Program is a joint program with National Geographic Education and Lindblad Expeditions.

© 1996–2017 National Geographic Society. All rights reserved.